

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

www.nifl.gov/lincs/collections

LINCS (Literacy Information and Communication System) is a service of the National Institute for Literacy.

For more information on other LINCS services, go to www.nifl.gov/lincs

The LINCS Special Collections are one-stop electronic gateways to specialized information on high-quality literacy practices and materials for use in adult education and literacy programs. LINCS Special Collections are built around specific content areas, specific settings or contexts, and professional development topics.

Each of the LINCS Special Collections offers a comprehensive assortment of materials, resources, and web links for instructors, tutors, program administrators, and adult learners. Many of the resources are downloadable for use by tutors and teachers. Visitors will also be able to find links to relevant adult and family literacy research, policy issues, articles about practice, and project updates.

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS: Assessment Correctional Education ESL Equipped for the Future Family Literacy Health &amp; Literacy Literacy &amp; Learning Disabilities Policy &amp; Legislation Science &amp; Numeracy Technology Training Workforce Education
---

To participate in LINCS, go to the LINCS homepage (<http://www.nifl.gov/lincs>), choose Discussions, and follow the instructions to subscribe to one or more lists.