The page contains an example of an EFF Classroom Activity. The activity is titled "Four Purposes," submitted by Judy Franks from the Ohio Literacy Resource Center. The activity involves using information from the Standards Guide (Ch 1) to share Goal 6 from the National Education Goals with participants:

"Every adult American will be literate and possess the knowledge and skills necessary to compete in a global economy and exercise the rights and responsibilities of citizenship."

The activity also involves posing questions to the group about what knowledge and skills adults need to function effectively in this century, recording responses, and then identifying these responses with the four purposes of EFF:

- ACCESS: Access to information and resources so adults can orient themselves in the world.
- VOICE: To be able to express ideas and opinions with the confidence they will be heard and taken into account.
- ACTION: To be able to solve problems and make decisions on one's own, acting independently, without having to rely on others.
- BRIDGE TO THE FUTURE: To learn how to learn in order to keep up with the world as it changes.

The activity also notes that the responses from the participants match any of the four purposes, and color coding is used to identify responses with each purpose.

The Note section at the end of the example indicates that this activity can also be part of a carousel activity explaining the content framework using:

- Purposes for Learning
- Seeing Yourself in the Role Maps
