The publication of a collection of writings such as Beginnings 10 does not happen in a vacuum. The effort put into this collection is widespread and substantial.

We thank the Ohio Department of Education's Adult Basic and Literacy Education Office for the continued support it has provided for this successful project. We also thank the many reviewers and judges for the hours they have dedicated to reviewing and judging the nearly 350 submissions received for the 2007 Ohio Writers' Conference.

We offer a special thanks to the ABLE teachers throughout the state of Ohio for the encouragement and support they provide to their students.

We want to recognize the cover artist, Yldigar R. Villatoro Herrera, and thank him for sharing his artistic talent for this publication.

Our special thanks to the speakers who share with us at the 2007 Ohio Writers' Conference: first of all, to Lee Peterson who is the keynote speaker for the conference and author of Rooms and Fields (a book of poetry); and secondly, to story-teller Lyn Ford who shares her "home-fried" stories that give us a chance to laugh and cry.
